- 1.3) U.S./Mexican trade balance and

2) Illegal migration into the USA via:-

A voluntary re-migration Initiatives for both the;-

- 2.1) U.S./Mexican illegal migration and
- 2.2) E.U. (European Union) Arabic migration challenge. This is very important for Mexico for new economic growth

3) It delivers budget savings in excess of $ 8 billion U.S. dollars via

- 3.1) U.S. deportation cost savings
- 3.2) Social housing savings in Mexico

4) New export options for

- 4.1) Both the U.S. and Mexico

A Second Chance is one of the most powerful business growth social development programs ever.

2) A Second Chance;- assist companies that operate in the U.S. & Mexico to meet the challenges of NAFTA and:-

Supports both the U.S. & Mexico to:-

- Maintain growth and (not just maintain, but to;-)
- Unlock new growth in the process of re-dressing the NAFTA challenges
- A Second Chance delivers 5 benefits that we believe is critical for the U.S. & Mexico in redressing NAFTA's
 - Job loss challenges (Of cross border investments) and
 - U.S./Mexican trade imbalances and
 - Undocumented migration

These benefits are:-

- 2.1) Goodwill in negotiations
- 2.2) The maintaining of economic growth
- 2.3) Humane redressing of undocumented immigrants
- 2.4) Funding for resettlement of migrants
- 2.5) New export growth

2.1) Negotiation support

A Second Chance creates a positive business growth climate for:-

- Collaboration between business, the governments of the USA and Mexico and communities.
- Because it integrates the human and economic challenges, delivering:-
- Humane voluntary re-migration and business growth

Voluntary re-migration + business
=
Successful negotiations

2.2) Economic growth

Maintaining economic growth is a critical factor for both the United States and Mexico in the renegotiating of NAFTA.

At stake are not just the jobs lost both in the agricultural sector of Mexico and manufacturing sector of the United States but thousands of jobs created in Mexico as a result of NAFTA and U.S. companies cross boarder investments.

The Initiative therefore specifically provides benefits to migrants, businesses and governments.

Budget savings of over $8 billion U.S. dollars can be achieved through deportation cost savings (U.S.) and social housing savings (Mexico). Funding that can be redeployed to generate and stimulate offset jobs for the replacement of jobs lost as a result of NAFTA.

2.3) Humane re-location

(deportation of undocumented migrants)

A Second Chance introduces a voluntary re-migration Initiative. To assist undocumented migrants to voluntary re-migrate (Return to their country of origin.).

Please note:- until accepted and endorsed by the Mexican and U.S. governments; the Initiative offers migrants a number of other benefits including:-

A key element to provide a business platform in terms of which businesses can also make available opportunities for migrants that re-migrate to re-establish themselves economically.

2.4) Funding to re-settle migrants

Through the inclusion of undocumented migrants in future directed solutions, potential budget savings on U.S. deportation costs of between $ 1,5 and $ 7,8 billion U.S. dollars can be achieved.

Additional, new concepts utilizing existing methods and new methods in social housing could result in potential savings of $ 5,0 billion U.S. dollars.

It is recommended that the savings be redirected on the following bases:-

A percentage as incentive for resettlement support to migrants and

A percentage to assist companies to create offset job opportunities to replace jobs lost due to U.S. cross-border investments in Mexico.

New economic growth (Exports)

The European Arabic voluntary re-migration Initiative will unlock and open extensive new export opportunities for American & Mexican companies.

Under the Initiative it is recommended that some of these projects are conducted on a partnership basis between U.S. & Mexican companies.

Voluntary re-migration
 European Arabic migrants to Syria, Iraq &
 Arab countries
Major new export opportunities

At stake is

• the growth of Mexico and the USA

- Long-term constructive solutions can be achieved.

It has to be on a:-

- Collaborative and integrated basis.

3) Business critical success factors

Immateral of the nature of solutions and the final renegotiated NAFTA agreement, it is critical for the long-term success of USA businesses that:-

- 1) A win win scenario be negotiated;
- 2) The growth of both the USA and Mexico continues;
- 3) Critical factors to address:-
 - 3.1) USA job-losses resulting from cross-border investments;
 - 3.2) Mexico's agricultural farm job-losses;
 - 3.3) U.S./Mexican trade deficit;
 - 3.4) Worker and business development (Both in the U.S. & Mexico);
 - 3.5) The Maquiladora program
 - 3.6) Illegal migration
 - 3.7) Crime and drug trafficking

At stake is the ability of America and Mexico to manage the imbalance in income earned by people in the USA and Mexico

The challenges are immense but by creating:-

- a positive atmosphere for collaboration between business and the governments of the USA and Mexico

7) Potential growth of 8 to 17%

Through an integrated approach it is possible to accelerate business growth.

Business growth and expansion of small, midsize and large corporations are the only options.

Through integrated solutions 8% to 17% growth for businesses are possible.

A Second Chance can result in deportation cost and social housing savings exceeding $8 billion U.S. dollars.

- That can be redeployed on an agreed bases for:-
 - Incentives for voluntary re-migration and
 - Resettlement
- USA job creation through business development,
- Which in turn will result in new exports for balancing the trade deficit.
